Postcards from Africa

Roger & Martha Dickson

The furyosity of the Augrebies Falls of South Africa. These are the greatest water falls within South Africa.

This is the beauty of the Western Cape of South Africa. There are farms in every valley that have been there for more than two centuries.

A European gentleman spent two years dreaming about traveling Africa while he built this "traveling home." He and his wife had been on the road for six months when Martha & I met him at a campsite.

When traveling about the Karoo wilderness of South Africa, one comes upon small towns, concerning which you wonder how they began as a town years ago.

Mercy Ships is a traveling hospital that goes from port to port in Africa. Volunteer nurses and doctors "man" the ship for service.

When the settlers came to the Karoo of South Africa, no one was farming this land. The Dutch farmers were the first people here.
